REFLECTING ON WHAT WE HAVE

The Snider Campus, encompassing the Louis Brier Home and Hospital and Weinberg Residence, is responding to the current world health crisis in the only way we know how: with diligence and perseverance! No one knows what will come tomorrow, but today we are safe, yet careful. Yes, every day there are new constraints on our movement, such as more careful tracking of visitors, but each day of health is a victory over chaos! If we follow the simple guidelines we will come out of this period stronger and more resilient.

As R. Nachman of Breslov said, "If you believe breaking is possible, believe fixing is possible".
